$217,634.07 Budget for Kingston City Schools

School Tax Rate Will Be $10 Instead of $12 On Account of Increase In Amount of Money Received From State—Operating Expenses Increase $19,860—Total Cost of Schools, Including Bonds and Interest Falling Due, $364,620.

Although the total operating expenses for the public schools of Kingston is estimated at $19,860 more for the ensuing school year than it was in 1925-1926, the amount to be raised by taxation is $39,860 less this year than it was last year. This will reduce the school tax rate from the rate of $12 per thousand of last year to $10 for the coming school year, which commences on August 1, 1926. This reduction in the rate and the amount to be raised by tax levy is due to the fact that the state pays more of the burden of operating the public schools.

The total operating cost of the public schools in the city as estimated by the board for the year 1926-1927 will be $342,310 as against $322,450 for last year. The bond and interest item brings the total public education cost up to $364,620 for the coming year and of this amount the state pays from public moneys the sum of $133,000 as against $50,000 which was received from the state last year. Total public education expenses for 1926-1927 are $342,310 or $19,860 less than the coming year. The total revenues other than general city taxation for the coming year will be $146,945.92, leaving a balance of $217,634.07 to be raised by general city tax levy. The total revenue other than from city taxation last year was about $90,000.

It is estimated that the balance in the hands of the city treasurer of July 31, 1926, will be $4,504.39 as against $8,933.32 on July 31, 1925.

New State Law Favors City.

By the new law which was adopted in 1925 and will be in effect during the coming school year, the state will pay all of the tuition cost of non-resident pupils who come to the local high school from towns where there are no high school facilities. Formerly the state paid $50 each for non-resident pupils in the high school and $50 was paid by the district from which the student came. The state still pays the original $50 tuition fee and under the new equalization plan Kingston gets an additional $73, making a total of $123 for non-resident tuition. This additional revenue from tuition paid by the state will amount to some $123,000.

Four Cars of Flyer Derailed

No Injuries Reported When Four Cars of The Crack Washington to Montreal Flyer Derailed at Rivermont, Vt.

Rivermont, Vt., June 19.—Four cars of the Montreal, the crack Washington to Montreal night flyer, were derailed here early today.

One hundred and ten passengers were thrown from their berths in the pullman sleepers and from their seats in the day coaches, but no injuries were reported.

The cause of the derailment is not known.

The flyer, consisting of seven cars in charge of Conductor John Fitzgerald of St. Albans, was traveling over the Central Railroad of Vermont at a fast clip, trying to make up five minutes that had been lost.

At Rivermont, six miles below capital at Montpelier, there was a grinding and the four rear cars left the rails. These were three sleeping cars and a combination coach and baggage car.

The engineer and fireman threw on the emergency brakes and prevented a possible loss of life by bringing the train to a quick stop.

Two of the sleepers were at an angle of forty-five degrees and the other two cars were tipping when the train was brought to a standstill.

The 110 passengers on the train were tossed about but a complete checkup showed that none were injured.

Passengers were transferred to other cars and the journey to Montreal was continued.

An investigation into the cause of the wreck was started. It was believed that a broken brake rod dropped, causing the derailment of one car which, in turn, derailed the others.

It was 4:35 a. m. when the cars left the rails and within a few hours the tracks were cleared.

The Montrealer is a sister train of the Washington, Montreal to Washington.

Famous Radio Announcer Sued

Boston, June 19.—A cloud of mystery surrounds a civil suit for $25,000 filed by a Boston woman against Graham McNamee, famous radio announcer.

Service of papers, it was learned today, was made while McNamee was announcing at the Country Club steeplechase races on Thursday.

Service was made by Deputy Sheriff William T. Lynch of Norfolk county. Lynch asserted he was employed to serve the papers by a Boston attorney and declined to give the name of the woman, though he admitted it was a Boston woman who was plaintiff.

Both her name and the nature of the suit, a tort action for $25,000 are being kept secret.

McNamee has returned to New York.

Mr. McNamee is married, his wedding with Miss Josephine Garrett taking place about five years ago. Before going to New York, where he soon became known as one of the foremost radio announcers in the land, he lived in St. Paul, Minn. He was a singer of distinction before he began radio broadcasting three years ago.

Pearl Dorling Gets 15 Years

Sandusky, Mich., June 19.—Pearl Dorling, convicted last night of manslaughter in connection with the slaying of Roy Lee, 18-year-old high school boy, was sentenced to 15 years in Jackson Prison today.

The prosecution maintained Dorling killed Lee because Lee had been guilty of misconduct with Dorling's wife, who committed suicide at Lee's funeral.

Dorling claimed a confession, later repudiated, was slugged from him by state police.

B. MANN BUYS ORMEROD PROPERTY ON THE STRAND

The lower floor of the building is occupied by Virell C. Shader as a meat market and grocery store, while the upper floor is used for living apartments and occupied by Mr. Ormerod.

The sale was closed through the brokerage office of Sam N. Mann. Mr. Ormerod is a patient at the Kingston City Hospital but has so far improved that he expects to be able to leave the hospital shortly. It is understood that within a month or so his health permitting, he will remove from Kingston.

Hotel Eichler Sold by Tancredi

John Tancredi on Friday sold the Hotel Eichler on Railroad avenue to John Corona of Poughkeepsie, who took possession of the hotel today.

The price paid was not disclosed. It is understood that Mr. Corona will continue to operate the hotel.

The Eichler was erected a number of years ago by the late Adolph Eichler, who conducted it for a long time. He subsequently sold it to John E. Van De Carr, who conducted it for a time, and later resumed ownership but in the meantime had erected and operated a hotel at the corner of Broadway and Dederick street which is now the Broadway branch of the Kingston Trust Company.

There have been various proprietors of the Eichler. The late James S. Winne conducted it for a time in the interval between the withdrawal of Alonzo E. and James E. Winne as proprietors of The Eagle Hotel and its sale by the Winne estate, and the construction of The Skyransant. George J. Schryver also conducted it for a time as did Conrad Raible and others.

Mysterious 'Emil' Sought by Police

New York, June 19.—A mysterious "Emil," believed to have been the cause of the suicide of Anna Austin, 32, musical comedy actress, was being sought by police today in an effort to untangle the motive for Miss Austin's self-destruction.

This actress ended her life by swallowing poison, dying after walking the floor of her apartment for two hours and frantically resisting efforts of police and physicians to administer an antidote.

A note asking that a Brooklyn telephone number be called and Emil notified "that I am dead" was found on Miss Austin's desk. The note continued:

"Emil is the cause of it all. I am doing this in my right mind."

The mysterious Emil mentioned in the farewell note is believed to be a wealthy Brooklyn business man.

When police burst into her room, Miss Austin cried:

"Let me alone. I want to die."

Miss Austin had previously called Charles Fraction, superintendent, on the telephone and told him she had swallowed poison and did not want to be disturbed. Fraction notified the police.

Gertrude Flint, a Negro maid, prostrated with grief at the death of her mistress, scouted the theory the suicide had been caused by a broken love affair. She said Miss Austin had been in financial difficulties.

Miss Austin took part in many outstanding theatrical productions on Broadway during the last ten years. Police learned she had been married and divorced twice.

Lamar Crawford Had Leg Broken

Lamar Crawford of No. 11 Ponckhockie street is in the Kingston City Hospital with a broken left leg as the result of being struck by the automobile of Ruskin Williams of Woodstock. In reporting the accident to the police department Friday afternoon Mr. Williams stated Mr. Crawford was walking ahead of his car on the West Hurley road near the Widow Keator farm when an approaching truck forced him to swerve his car to one side and in doing so he struck Crawford.

Mr. Crawford is a well known volunteer fireman, is honorary president of Cordis Hose Company and an honorary member of a number of other volunteer fire companies in New York state and New Jersey.

Exchanges Shots With Dry Agents

Buffalo, N. Y., June 19.—After holding police at bay for three hours in his soft drinkery here early today, Frank Fisher was arrested on a charge of interfering with a federal officer in the performance of duty.

Several shots were exchanged and tear bombs were used before Fisher was taken into custody.

Following a raid on a miniature brewery at 542 Broadway, shortly after midnight, John McQuade, federal agent, stepped into Fisher's place to use the telephone. Fisher recognized him, however, and pointed a gun at McQuade, forced him from the place. Fisher then looked the front door of his place and warned the dry agents not to enter.

Tear bombs were resorted to, but they had no effect on the proprietor. Shots were fired in the air, and Fisher replied in like manner.

Finally police attacked the place, front and rear, and the men were placed under arrest.

ARREST IN GREENE MURDER OF BENDERSON

Buffalo, N. Y., June 19.—An arrest, the first, was made today in connection with the gruesome murder of Jacob Benderson, wealthy retired merchant, who was kidnapped and slain and his body stuffed in a vacant building. The identity of the prisoner and where he was arrested is being kept secret by the police, however.

The prisoner is said to be well known in the underworld of Buffalo and had often spoken of the large amounts of money gained by Benderson.

Police indicated this morning that in their opinion the most probable theory was that Benderson was attacked by three men who entered the neighborhood—Swan and Centre streets—where his body was found.

The authorities believe the thugs killed Benderson when he showed fight and fled before they could carry out their plan of burning the body to destroy evidence of the crime.

The body was found lying on the sidewalk of the terrace, located in a vacant lithographing plant.

Shannon Electric Signs

J. Shannon, clothing dealer and sign painter, has placed a large neon sign in front of his store, 32 North Front street. The sign, between Green and Wall streets, shows the number of electric signs in Kingston. The sign is a masterpiece of neon art.

Royal Visitors Now at Boston

Crown Prince Will Inspect Art Treasures of Old Boston While Princess Louise Is Attending Steeplechase Races.

Boston, June 19.—Two great American universities—Harvard and Massachusetts Institute of Technology—and art treasures of old Boston claimed the attention of Crown Prince Gustavus Adolphus and his consort, Princess Louise today.

The busy program called for an inspection of the big engineering school, a tour of Harvard, a greeting at Longfellow House by the daughter of the famous poet, luncheon at Fenway Court with inspection of the art treasures and tea at the Museum of Fine Arts.

Sweden's next king passed up the steeplechase races at the Country Club, electing to spend the afternoon browsing about the art museum—one of the finest in the world.

Princess Louise and the others chose the races. She goes to the race track from her motor in old-fashioned carriage. Six tulipblossoms and two braves accompany the carriage, with the blowing of horns to herald the approach of the princess and with society out en masse, to give the affair background of older race track days.

The royal party leave late today on board R. T. Paine's private steam yacht for Prides Crossing, where the prince and princess are guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. Jefferson Coolidge.

Dinner in honor of the royal rovers will be served this evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. Prince, in Wrentham.

Sunday the Crown Prince, the Princess and entourage visit a Swedish festival at the Old People's Home in Newtonville before entraining for Niagara Falls.

On Monday, arriving at the Falls at 9:30 a. m., the royal party will visit all points of interest, have luncheon on the Canadian side and depart at 1:30 p. m. for Detroit, reaching that city at 7:25 p. m.

Queen Olga of Greece Is Dead

Former Dowager Queen of Greece Dies in Italy—Regime Established by Her Husband Shattered.

Rome, June 19.—Queen Olga of Greece died here early today.

Olga, the former dowager Queen of Greece, has spent her declining years in Italy, in unhappiness as she has seen the regime established by her husband, the former King George, crumbling and shattered in Greece.

Born Olga, Grand Duchess Constantina, in St. Petersburg in August, 1851, she married King George, Prince William of Denmark, in October, 1867.

King George, who has been selected by the Greek people as their king while he was Prince William of Denmark, had a reign of 49 years in Greece, which was successful and happy. Queen Olga as his consort reigned in happiness, despite the continual political difficulties which made her life an unending whirl of political maneuvering.

In 1913 King George was assassinated at Salonika and his son, Constantine acceded to the throne. Queen Olga retired and later went to Italy to reside.

During her declining years she saw her son Constantine twice driven from the throne only to die of a broken heart at Palermo, and she has seen her grandchildren scattered over the face of Europe.

Thousands of Pilgrims Arrive

Chicago was white with color when the sun broke out upon it this morning. Many stores, starting damage from the weather, had closed putting up their decorations until last night. Decorators worked throughout the night and today partially covered the buildings in the city displayed the national colors and the red, white and blue of the Eucharistic Congress.

Thousands of pilgrims were pouring into the city today by every means of travel. A steady stream of humanity flowed out of each of the large terminals where special trains were arriving as fast as station tracks were available. Many pilgrims came by boat from points on the Great Lakes. Other thousands flowed into the city by automobile.

By midnight it was estimated that more than half a million visitors would be sheltered in the flag-decked city.

Sunday Excursion to New York

The steamer Homer Ramo of the Central Hudson Line will make the usual Sunday excursion to New York and return Sunday. The ship will leave at 6:00 a. m.

W. C. T. U. Fund Will Be Probed

"Slush Fund" Committee Decides To Investigate the Fund Raised by the W. C. T. U. of Pennsylvania—Resume Sessions Monday.

Washington, June 19.—The senate "slush fund" committee decided today to investigate the expenditure of a $250,000 fund raised by the W. C. T. U. of Pennsylvania, for "law enforcement" purposes just prior to the $2,000,000 senatorial primary campaign.

The fund was turned over either to Governor Gifford Pinchot or his representative, the committee was told, and a detailed account of its expenditure was never rendered by members of the W. C. T. U. The committee decided on an inquiry into the fund to learn whether it was used on behalf of the senatorial candidacy of Governor Pinchot.

A committee ordered a subpoena for Mrs. Ella George of Pittsburgh, president of the W. C. T. U. of Pennsylvania. Mrs. Maud T. Seymour, of McConnellsburg, Pa., a vice president at large, was previously summoned.

A third subpoena probably will be issued for Mrs. Leah Cobb Marlon of Emporium, Pa., a former treasurer, who was custodian of the Pinchot fund.

The committee called off the session scheduled for today and Senator Reed, (D) of Missouri, announced the hearings will be resumed Monday. At that time, Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel of the Anti-Slavery League, will resume the stand, Reed said.

The postponement was due, Reed said, to the fact that Wheeler could not produce the financial records of his organization until Monday and other members of the committee were engaged in legislative matters. He later explained that the committee intended to begin an inquiry today into the Pinchot W. C. T. U. fund but that friends of the organization urged it be postponed until Mrs. George, its president, could be present. According to the reports received by the committee, he said, various members of the W. C. T. U. complained that they never knew how the money was spent.

Judge Francis X. O'Connor, Philadelphia magistrate, also will be present at Monday's session to explain newspaper stories quoting him as saying he had been offered a $150,000 bribe by the Vire organization to withdraw his opposition to it. Three Philadelphia newspapers told the committee O'Connor had made the charge to them, but the magistrate later denied the stories.

TWO HURT, TWO CARS WRECKED, TWO BOYS CAUGHT

Boston, June 19.—A mile chase by Motorcycle Policeman Lawrence O'Donnell, of Newton, for two boys in a stolen automobile ended early today in two persons being injured, two cars being wrecked and the capture of the boys.

The youths gave these names: John J. Hill, sixteen, of Dorchester and John Faherty, sixteen, of South Boston. At one time during the chase they crowded the motorcycle officer onto the sidewalk and he had to do some dexterous riding to save him from telephone poles.

At Commonwealth and Dartmouth streets, the boys smashed into two other cars.

Harry J. Brunell, of Marlboro, was hurled from one car and injured. The artery of his wrist was severed by glass.

Miss Margaret Mulhern, of Dorchester, was thrown from the other car and severely shaken up.

With their car disabled the youths were easily captured. They denied stealing the car they were driving.

Crowds Mill About Coliseum

When the demonstration was at its height, the famous old Coliseum, wherein three presidents of the United States were nominated and the fourth Mr. Coolidge, received the nomination for vice-president, was not unlike the scenes during a national convention.

There was one outstanding exception. That was the colorful array of honor guests that sat grouped around the speakers' stand in the center of the huge amphitheatre. The venerable princes of the church, in their medieval robes, sitting in the midst of men in conventional evening dress, represented a strange linking of ages past with the present.

At the conclusion of the reception, police had difficulty in clearing a passageway in front of the building that would permit the dignitaries to reach their automobiles. One of them, in fact, Cardinal Michael Von Faulhaber of Munich, was caught in the crush of spectators and roughly shoved around. When police sought to rescue him, he said:

"Never mind; they mean well, and I am in no danger." Then he raised his hand and blessed the throng. Presently they made way before him and he walked, unattended, to his car.

Thousands of pilgrims arrived. Chicago was white with color when the sun broke out upon it this morning. Many stores, starting damage from the weather, had closed putting up their decorations until last night. Decorators worked throughout the night and today partially covered the buildings in the city displayed the national colors and the red, white and blue of the Eucharistic Congress.

Thousands of pilgrims were pouring into the city today by every means of travel. A steady stream of humanity flowed out of each of the large terminals where special trains were arriving as fast as station tracks were available. Many pilgrims came by boat from points on the Great Lakes. Other thousands flowed into the city by automobile.

By midnight it was estimated that more than half a million visitors would be sheltered in the flag-decked city.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

By MARY GRAMM BONNER

POLAR BEARS IN SUMMER

"They say that we are very cross," remarked Mr. Polar Bear.

"I believe they speak correctly," answered Mrs. Polar Bear, as she shook her big head up and down and looked at Mr. Polar Bear.

"They say you are even more cross than I am," Mr. Polar Bear continued.

"That, too, is quite true, I believe," said Mrs. Polar Bear.

"It's a very hot day," said Mr. Polar Bear after a moment.

"It's a horrid day," said Mrs. Polar Bear, "and if I could get hold of the keeper I would tell him so."

"You mean," said Mr. Polar Bear, "you would go after him and goodness only knows what would become of him."

"Goodness wouldn't know, but I would," said Mrs. Polar Bear, her eyes looking very wild. "I would put a fish to him for making the day so hot."

"I don't believe it is his fault," said Mr. Polar Bear. "Then, too, he has tried to do his best for us. He has been giving us cake after cake of ice."

"Up North from where we came we can live on ice. What do little cakes of ice mean to me?" asked Mrs. Polar Bear.

"Besides I would like to get rid of some of my bad temper on the keeper. I don't care whether it is his fault or not. You're much milder than I am, Mr. Polar Bear."

"It's foolish of you, too. I like to be considered a terror. I like to hear the keeper tell people that he can't make pets of the polar bears, and especially Mrs. Polar Bear."

"Yes, as I said before, we are cross," Mr. Polar Bear remarked. "But I think you are a little harsh on the keeper. Think how much hotter we would be if he didn't give us all this ice."

"It's a horrid day," said Mrs. Polar Bear.

"Ice! And, too, while other animals are enjoying the heat, think how we get the better of them when it is cold, cold winter."

"I never think of the winter in the summer, Mr. Polar Bear," said Mrs. Polar Bear.

"When it's hot I complain a d d I don't try to think of the cool day to come. Otherwise I'd be too hot to eat—and patience isn't my strong point."

"But I'll tell you a secret," she added, "as she played with another piece of ice the keeper gave her."

"Mr. Polar Bear was cooling himself upon his piece of ice, and Mrs. Polar Bear looked at him as she spoke."

"You have a secret to tell me?" asked Mr. Polar Bear.

"Yes," said Mrs. Polar Bear. "I'll tell it to you. We're not very different at all—indeed we're far from it."

"We don't like the zoo much, especially when it is warm."

"We like the very far north where it is always cold and where even the little cub babies go into the icy water."

"But this is my secret, and it is the secret of many other Mrs. Polar Bears who live in zoos."

"We will not let any little polar babies come to the zoo. They are very seldom born in captivity—and none have ever been born here."

"I don't want the little ones to be brought up in this small space."

"I don't want them to have the hot summers."

"I don't want them to be captive."

"And that is my secret. It is part of my revenge on the zoo people."

"Now and again a Mrs. Polar Bear says different. But not often."

"So that is the secret?" said Mr. Polar Bear. "Well, you're a wild one, all right."

"But here comes still more ice. That keeper is doing his best for us on this hot day."

"No more than he should do," said Mrs. Polar Bear, in a sad, sad voice.

GAS BUGGIES or HEM AND AMY—The Danger of Folly.

EDWARD PLOP, WHO IS HANDICAPPED WITH A LOOSE MUFFLER ACQUIRED IN HIS YOUTH, WAS UNABLE TO KEEP SILENT ABOUT THE STOCK HE BOUGHT IN HEMS PETRIFIED GAS SUBSTITUTE, AND AS A RESULT FOUND HIMSELF THE BUSIEST MEMBER IN HIS CLUB, THE BENEVOLENT BROTHERS.

I'VE SHARED MY LOCKER WITH ED FOR YEARS, AND HE ACTUALLY SHUBBED ME WHEN I ASKED HIM TO GET ME A FEW SHARES OF PETRIFIED GAS.

TALK ABOUT STUCK-UP! HE ACTS LIKE HE'S SOME BIG MILLIONAIRE ALREADY.

NOW LISTEN, ED--AS ONE FRIEND TO ANOTHER--TAKE THIS CHECK AND GET ME--EVEN THE COMMON STOCK.

AS I'VE ALREADY TOLD THE OTHER NINE HUNDRED AND NINETY NINE MEMBERS OF THIS CLUB--NOTHING DOWN! THE STOCK IS NOT FOR SALE.

I NEVER SAW SUCH A CHANGE IN A MAN.

THEY SAY THEY SPEAK CORRECTLY, UNANSWERED MRS. POLAR BEAR, AS SHE SHOOK HER BIG HEAD UP AND DOWN AND LOOKED AT MR. POLAR BEAR.

"THEY SAY YOU ARE EVEN MORE CROSS THAN I AM," MR. POLAR BEAR CONTINUED.

"THAT, TOO, IS QUITE TRUE, I BELIEVE," SAID MRS. POLAR BEAR.

"IT'S A VERY HOT DAY," SAID MR. POLAR BEAR AFTER A MOMENT.

"IT'S A HORRID DAY," SAID MRS. POLAR BEAR, "AND IF I COULD GET HOLD OF THE KEEPER I WOULD TELL HIM SO."

"YOU MEAN," SAID MR. POLAR BEAR, "YOU WOULD GO AFTER HIM AND GOODNESS ONLY KNOWS WHAT WOULD BECOME OF HIM."

"GOODNESS WOULDN'T KNOW, BUT I WOULD," SAID MRS. POLAR BEAR, HER EYES LOOKING VERY WILD. "I WOULD PUT A FISH TO HIM FOR MAKING THE DAY SO HOT."

"I DON'T BELIEVE IT IS HIS FAULT," SAID MR. POLAR BEAR. "THEN, TOO, HE HAS TRIED TO DO HIS BEST FOR US. HE HAS BEEN GIVING US CAKE AFTER CAKE OF ICE."

"UP NORTH FROM WHERE WE CAME WE CAN LIVE ON ICE. WHAT DO LITTLE CAKES OF ICE MEAN TO ME?" ASKED MRS. POLAR BEAR.

"BESESIDES I WOULD LIKE TO GET RID OF SOME OF MY BAD TEMPER ON THE KEEPER. I DON'T CARE WHETHER IT IS HIS FAULT OR NOT. YOU'RE MUCH Milder THAN I AM, MR. POLAR BEAR."

"IT'S FOOLISH OF YOU, TOO. I LIKE TO BE CONSIDERED A TERROR. I LIKE TO HEAR THE KEEPER TELL PEOPLE THAT HE CAN'T MAKE PETS OF THE POLAR BEARS, AND ESPECIALLY MRS. POLAR BEAR."

"YES, AS I SAID BEFORE, WE ARE CROSS," MR. POLAR BEAR REMARKED. "BUT I THINK YOU ARE A LITTLE HARSH ON THE KEEPER. THINK HOW MUCH HOTTER WE WOULD BE IF HE DIDN'T GIVE US ALL THIS ICE."

"IT'S A HORRID DAY," SAID MRS. POLAR BEAR.

"ICE! AND, TOO, WHILE OTHER ANIMALS ARE ENJOYING THE HEAT, THINK HOW WE GET THE BETTER OF THEM WHEN IT IS COLD, COLD WINTER."

"I NEVER THINK OF THE WINTER IN THE SUMMER, MR. POLAR BEAR," SAID MRS. POLAR BEAR.

"WHEN IT'S HOT I COMPLAIN A D D I DON'T TRY TO THINK OF THE COOL DAY TO COME. OTHERWISE I'D BE TOO HOT TO EAT--AND PATIENCE ISN'T MY STRONG POINT."

"BUT I'LL TELL YOU A SECRET," SHE ADDED, "AS SHE PLAYED WITH ANOTHER PIECE OF ICE THE KEEPER GAVE HER."

"MR. POLAR BEAR WAS COOLING HIMSELF UPON HIS PIECE OF ICE, AND MRS. POLAR BEAR LOOKED AT HIM AS SHE SPOKE."

"YOU HAVE A SECRET TO TELL ME?" ASKED MR. POLAR BEAR.

"YES," SAID MRS. POLAR BEAR. "I'LL TELL IT TO YOU. WE'RE NOT VERY DIFFERENT AT ALL--INDEED WE'RE FAR FROM IT."

"WE DON'T LIKE THE ZOO MUCH, ESPECIALLY WHEN IT IS WARM."

"WE LIKE THE VERY FAR NORTH WHERE IT IS ALWAYS COLD AND WHERE EVEN THE LITTLE CUB BABIES GO INTO THE ICY WATER."

"BUT THIS IS MY SECRET, AND IT IS THE SECRET OF MANY OTHER MRS. POLAR BEARS WHO LIVE IN ZOOS."

"WE WILL NOT LET ANY LITTLE POLAR BABIES COME TO THE ZOO. THEY ARE VERY SCARCELY BORN IN CAPTIVITY--AND NONE HAVE EVER BEEN BORN HERE."

"I DON'T WANT THE LITTLE ONES TO BE BROUGHT UP IN THIS SMALL SPACE."

"I DON'T WANT THEM TO HAVE THE HOT SUMMERS."

"I DON'T WANT THEM TO BE CAPTIVE."

"AND THAT IS MY SECRET. IT IS PART OF MY REVENGE ON THE ZOO PEOPLE."

"NOW AND AGAIN A MRS. POLAR BEAR SAYS DIFFERENT. BUT NOT OFTEN."

"SO THAT IS THE SECRET?" SAID MR. POLAR BEAR. "WELL, YOU'RE A WILD ONE, ALL RIGHT."

"BUT HERE COMES STILL MORE ICE. THAT KEEPER IS DOING HIS BEST FOR US ON THIS HOT DAY."

"NO MORE THAN HE SHOULD DO," SAID MRS. POLAR BEAR, IN A SAD, SAD VOICE.

According to the New York Herald-Tribune, Mr. Rose was known as the "David Harum of Stony Point," and he amassed $1,900,000 by catering to virtually every need of the inhabitants of the Rockland county's smallest township.

Fifty years ago Mr. Rose was a drug store clerk in Stony Point. He told friends that he was "going to make a million" before he died. Some derided him, others encouraged him, but many lived to see him achieve his goal almost double. He got the opportunity to buy the store and invested all of his savings in groceries, food stuffs, furniture, grates, clothing, farming implements and books, or anything else he thought would appeal to the country-side. He then bought fifteen wagons and sent them out daily loaded down with selections from the store. He remained at the store, but he arrived there at 5:30 a. m. every day and did not leave until 10 o'clock at night.

and Commercial

New York, June 19.—Stocks of the motor, steel and a few of the oil companies recovered about half of the losses sustained in yesterday's sharp closing movement in the first half hour of trading today. Most of the market favorites were strong at the opening, with initial gains of 1 to 1 1/2 points, after which the turnover was unusually heavy.

Buying of railroad stocks was in considerable volume, the feature of this section of the market being Reading, which jumped to 96, up 4 1/4 for the day and nearly 10 points for the week.

Union Oil of California reached a new high at 51. Other oils were irregular.

Rallies of 2 to 5 points occurred in the market speculative leaders, including United States Steel, General Motors, Mack Trucks, Woolworth, American Smelting, etc. Pools in some of the cheaper specialties resumed operations in this stock, marking up prices a point or two in the usual manipulative dealings between members of the pool. Trading in these stocks appeared to be quite heavy, according to reports on the tape. Public utility stocks were active and strong, with Brooklyn Union Gas a leader in this section.

Industrial stocks were irregular in the final period as the result of profit taking in the steels and motors, while oil stocks firmed up and sold at the best prices of the day. Union Oil of California spurted to 52 1/4 for a 5-point gain while Louisiana OIL, in the low-priced group, sold up 2 points in active trading. Marland and Atlantic Refining sold higher.

The listed bond market was inactive and featureless today, with good demand continuing for American and foreign government issues.

French government 7 per cents advanced nearly a point to 90, reflecting the strong demand for these bonds from the country banks. Italian 7 per cents sold fractionally higher at 88 1/2 and Japanese 6 1/2 at 97 1/2.

Prime and second grade railroad bonds were inactive and featureless, with Erie General Issue at 79 1/2 and International Mercantile Marine at 94 1/2.

SEVERAL INJURED IN CLASH AT BERLIN.

Berlin, June 19.—The second bloody clash in the battle over the plebiscite tomorrow on the confiscation of the property of former German royalty occurred today when seven nationalists and communists were seriously injured in a street brawl.

Both sides, riding in wagons, hurled rocks at each other. Propaganda of the press and anti-Communist propaganda were being thrown through the streets with galleons from which an echo of the former Kaiser's dangled. Communist orators, made to resemble Wilhelm, were making speeches in favor of confiscation.

WEATHER OUTLINE FOR NEXT WEEK.

Washington, June 19.—Weather outlook for the period June 21 to 26, inclusive:

North and Middle Atlantic States: A period of showers early part, about middle and again at the end of the week. The week will average cool.

REMARKS PUBLIC.

The following have been appointed notaries public in and for Ulster county by Governor Alfred E. Smith: Fred J. Frear, 54 Center street, Ellenville; William H. Reilly, 161 Smith avenue, Kingston; Katherine E. Wilbur, 121 Park street, Saugerties.

IN JAIL FOR INDEMNITY.

Mike Kennedy and Dennis Ward were brought to the Ulster county jail on Friday afternoon, each to serve ten days. They were committed by Judge Clyde Gardner who found them guilty of public intoxication.

TREASURY BALANCE.

Washington, July 1.—Treasury balance June 17: $254,975,207.19.

Socialists Will Support Herriot

Paris, June 19.—An Herriot Government is now practically assured. A delegation of Socialists called on M. Herriot today and informed him that the Socialists are prepared to support his financial program. This support makes it practically certain that M. Herriot will be able to form his cabinet, although it will probably more of the complexion of the left than of a coalition.

M. Herriot plans to lay a complete program for financial reconstruction down before those whom he invites to join his cabinet, and is working up this program today. He held numerous consultations with financial and economic experts during the morning.

Public Hearing On 'Phone Rates

The public service commissioner will hold a public hearing at Albany on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock on the complaint of Jacob Benenson and other telephone subscribers in the Liberty central office district and in the Ellenville central office district, against the New York Telephone Company as to rates charged for boarding house and hotel keepers telephone service, and as to (affecting certain of the complainants) demand that boarding house and hotel keepers service be substituted for rural service.

End Celebration Of Navy's Birth

Marblehead, Mass., June 19.—This Yankee Doodle seaside town today closed its celebration of the birth of the American Navy.

Five thousand persons gathered for a street parade and thousands came to view it.

The Battleships New York, Wyoming and Utah, a scout cruiser and several destroyers are here as well as 1,500 midshipmen from Annapolis.

The "Middies" and the regulars came ashore for the parade. The navy provided the first division, the Spanish-War veterans the second and civic organizations the third.

Marblehead claims to be the birthplace of the navy as the first warship regularly commissioned by authority from the American colonies of North America was a Marblehead schooner, the "Hannah."

YOUNG McDERMOTT MUST STAND TRIAL.

New York, June 19.—Because, it is alleged, he didn't try to prevent his seventeen-year-old bride from attempting suicide, Rogers McDermott, 19, said to be a member of a wealthy Connecticut family, must answer in a Brooklyn court next Friday.

The case is unprecedented in New York state, authorities say, and for that matter any other state.

Rogers and his wife, Katherine, daughter of Herman Meister, well-to-do Brooklyn contractor, were both students at Erasmus High School in Brooklyn. They were married October 17, but the girl's father was not enthusiastic over the marriage because McDermott was only 19 and not working. McDermott, however, got a job as an oiler but at small wages.

The young couple's romance presently neared the breaking point and she became "disgusted with life."

"Don't do it in front of me," McDermott is alleged to have said. "I'll go into this store and buy some candy while you do it."

While he was in the store she took two tablets of Bichloride of mercury. She will live, however.

But McDermott is accused of a crime on the ground he failed to prevent her from trying to take her life.

Education Board Has Busy Session

Session of Venus Loaned to High School by Judge Sharpe—Troy Company Seeks to Withdraw Bid for Fire Escapes—Contracts for Work and Supplies Awarded.

The board of education held a busy session at their rooms in the high school Friday evening. The budget for 1926-1927, which appears in another column, was adopted, bids for several items were opened and contracts awarded and the routine business of the board was transacted.

All of the members of the board were present except Trustee Brinley.

A communication was received from Judge S. B. Sharpe offering to loan to the board a large marble statue of Venus which he now has in storage. He offered to transport the statue to the high school and have it erected in some suitable place in the building. It is of white marble, 3 1/2 feet high and mounted on a pedestal 3 1/2 high of yellow marble. The board of education will act as custodian of the statue until Judge Sharpe asks its return. Superintendent Michael stated that there was an excellent place for the statue and the board accepted the offer of Judge Sharpe.

Troy Bidder Made Mistake.

A communication was received from the West Side Structural Company, Inc., of Troy in regard to the erection of the fire escapes at No. 7 school. At the last regular meeting of the board bids were opened for the erection of the escapes, two in number, as stated in the proposals for bids. The West Side company bid $616 and John Hermann of this city bid $812. On account of the great difference in cost the Troy concern was awarded the contract. The communication from the president of the company stated that there had been an error in the bid and asked that the bid be withdrawn if possible. He stated that the concern had bid on one fire escape although the proposal asked for two. The letter which accompanied the bid was read and it was found the bid was in the singular, or for one escape. After a discussion it was deemed wise to allow the bid to be withdrawn provided Mr. Hermann was willing to accept the contract at his previous figure of $812.

The finance committee offered the payroll for June amounting to $26,142.50, and also bills amounting to $1,781.59.

Increased Pay for Janitors.

Trustee Beeres for the building committee moved that the janitors be employed for the coming school year at an increase of $5 a month. Last year the janitors asked for an increase of $20 a month. An increase of $10 was granted and again this year they will receive an increase of $5. In some of the schools there are temporary janitors acting in place of the regular men. An eligible list has been asked for and from this list permanent janitors will be appointed to fill vacancies. On motion of Trustee Betz the report of the building committee was adopted and the increase to the janitors granted.

A communication was received from Arthur Church, heating engineer, submitting a report on a survey which he had made gratis for the board, of the heating plants in the city schools. The report was referred to the building committee to report back to the board at the next meeting.

Bids for Electrical Work.

Bids for electrical work in Schools No. 6 and 7 were received and opened. The bids were as follows: Fred R. DeGarmo, No. 6, $1,148; No. 7, $1,623.50.

J. H. Krauser, No. 6, $915; No. 7, $1,086.

Carl Miller & Son, No. 6, $900; No. 7, $1,166.

A. H. Clark, No. 6, $900; No. 7, $1,225.

The contract for School No. 7 was awarded to J. H. Krauser for $1,086, that being the lowest bid.

The contract for School No. 6 was finally awarded to Carl Miller & Son for $900. Miller and A. H. Clark both submitted the same bids and the contract was awarded on a vote. Seven voted for Miller and one member did not vote.

Bids for Other Work.

Bids for the Maple floor in the high school gym were opened. The bids were:

Peter C. Osterhout & Son $1,024.

Lynas T. Schoonmaker $1,216.75.

John W. Marks $1,261. Mr. Marks bid on No. 1 clear while the contract called for No. 1 maple.

On motion of Trustee Beeres the contract was awarded to Peter C. Osterhout & Son for $1,024.

Bids for printing were opened as follows:

The Ledger Company $113.50; Freeman Publishing Co. $225. The contract was awarded to the Ledger Company for $113.50.

Two bids for steel flag poles were received and opened.

C. D. Moore bid $152 each for a fifty foot pole, set and painted as per specifications, or $250 for five.

Wisher & Walter bid $1,216 for five poles.

The contract was awarded to C. D. Moore for $250, on motion of Trustee Thompson.

Charles M. King was appointed a trustee for the Poughkeepsie public library for a term of three years.

The board then adjourned.

Another Victory For Water Hagen

London, June 19.—Walter Hagen hung up another golfing victory for America today, when he defeated Abe Mitchell, England's premier professional two up and one to play in a seventy-two hole match.

Hagen, four down at the beginning of today's play over the St. George's Hill course, staged an early rally and won back his four holes in the morning round and became one up. During the afternoon round Mitchell made a valiant effort to come back, but the American was too good for him and played steady golf, never giving his opponent an opportunity to edge into the lead again.

Hagen's golf was better than perfect, for he tied the record of the course with a 68 this morning.

Seager has been held since Monday. The charge was placed against him after a court order had ordered him produced before Supreme Court Justice Jerome L. Choney this morning and police were ordered to show cause why he should not be released on a writ of habeas corpus.

White Plains Here Sunday

Colonials Will Play New York Team Here Sunday—Two Twilight Games Here Next Week.

With a match with the White Plains team Sunday afternoon and then two more of the twilight nature next week, the Colonials are beginning to branch out into their regular mid-season playing schedule.

The White Plains outfit which comes from New York City has heard of the Colonials' recent victory over the St. Louis Cardinals, as have many other teams of the country. This club will come to Kingston Sunday all keyed up to take a game from the locals which will mean they have trimmed a team which walked over the Cardinals. But on the other hand the Colonials are not any too willing to offer themselves as a doormat to accommodate any semi-pro team even if the club carries as heavy a record as the White Plains aggregation.

The Phelpsman will make their twilight debut in Kingston next week with the All-Schenectady club as their guests at the Fair Grounds. This first evening match of the season will be played on Wednesday night and then on Friday the Newark Stars will be at the Fair Grounds. The balance of the Colonials' schedule to date brings Chapple Johnson's All-Stars to Kingston on Sunday, June 27, for a double-header, one game on Sunday, July 4, with the Boston Black Sox and two on the following day, July 5, with the same club.

All Stars Play Chatham Sunday

Sunday the Kingston All Stars will undergo a real test when they meet the Chatham club of that town. The up-river club has one of the fastest semi-pro teams in this section this season.

They have defeated the Pittsfield Pros by a very large score and the Pros are not a very easy club to score on. The North Adams club has also fallen before the up-state team. Besides these two they have sent many others down to defeat.

Chatham has Lefty Demars, who has twirled in this city last year for North Adams, working on the mound Sunday. The locals will have no easy picking when they use their sticks against him.

Tennis Tourney At Lake Mohonk

The Sixth Annual Open Tennis Tournament for the Ulster County Championship will be held at Lake Mohonk, beginning Monday, July 12, and ending Saturday, July 17.

The official referee will be Dr. Philip B. Hawk of New York City, winner of last year's three-year cup, which bore the names of A. H. Chapin, Jr., of Springfield, and Paul Martin of New York.

The new three-year J. H. Jeffers Memorial Cup which will be placed in competition in the men's singles, is attracting considerable attention and many entrants.

Entries for singles close July 10, 9 p. m.; and for the doubles, July 12, 9 p. m.

Play will begin at 2:30 p. m. Monday, July 12, and continue according to the tournament committee's schedule.

Six Racing Events At Clyde Park

Brookline, Mass., June 19.—Thousands of turf enthusiasts, including many members of Greater Boston society and dignitaries of city and state, flocked to Clyde Park here today to witness the second and closing day's program of the revival of the Country Club racing, under the direction of the Eastern Horse Club.

Six racing events are on the schedule. The feature event of the program will be the 14th running of the Country Club annual steeplechase, for 4-year-olds and upwards. This race will be over a distance of about two and a half miles, in the Vignette, owned by Hapard Tucker, Jr., was a strong favorite, due to the gelding's impressive victory Thursday in the Jack Horner steeplechase.

Other events on the card are: Quasnet steeplechase, for three-year-olds, about 4 1/2 furlongs; National hunt cup steeplechase, for hunters, about 3 miles; Norfolk steeplechase, 4-year-olds and upwards, about 2 1/2 miles; Eastern Fox Club steeplechase, 4-year-olds and upwards, about 3 miles.

Mrs. Mallory Wins Plunk. London, June 19.—Mrs. Mollie Mallory won the final in the ladies' singles of the Rochester Tennis Tournament today, defeating Miss C. Tryell, 6-2, 6-1.

Artistics Hold Down First Place

Pete Jordan turned in his third straight win for the Artistics Friday evening at the Athletic Field. Pete turned back the City team, 11-6, and his team climbed into first place in the Industrial Baseball League.

Jordan was a bit rocky in the first inning. Lynch, the first man up, hit the first ball for the circuit, and Cramer followed with a triple. He scored on Levy's bad throw to Norton. He steadied himself after Cramer's clout and pulled through in fine style.

The second inning the Artistics broke out with a rash of base hits, and made enough runs to win the ball game. Knight and Stauble singled, and scored on Lewis's triple. Brophy struck out. Jordan sent Lewis home, hitting to right field for two bases. Bannon walked. Jordan and Bannon registered when Levy connected with one of Baker's slants for three bases. Weaver struck out. Norton singled and scored on Knight's triple to right field, for his second hit of the inning. Stauble ended the inning by fanning. Total: Seven runs, seven hits. The City scored two in the third on hits by Lynch, Cramer and E. Baker. They tallied one in the fifth and one in the sixth.

The Artistics kept right after Baker and scored four in the fourth and fifth.

At a meeting held Friday evening at the Chamber of Commerce rooms a vote was brought up on a proposed game between K. G. & E. and Artistics, and it was decided to replay the game. By doing so it made a change in the standing of the clubs and put the Artistics in first place.

SIDE-LINERS.

Jordan always gets a bad start, but he manages to pull through in fine style.

In the second inning every put out was a strike out. Seven hits were made in between them.

Lynch started the game off in a Babe Ruthian style, putting the ball over the automobiles on Smith avenue, for his third homer of the season. He is now in the lead.

Borbo was sent in to hit for J. Baker in the last inning, and he got a big hand. The strategy worked; he hit a single.

The Artistics are making a great showing in the league. Winning or losing they are right in there fighting. They are a good bunch to watch.

COMMISSIONER PUTS BAN ON TOWEL TOSSENG
New York, June 19.—Managers and seconds of boxers are forbidden to use a towel into the ring to save their men from punishment, under a rule adopted by the New York State Athletic Commission.

The rule was adopted because of unfavorable criticism of the outcome of the Ted Moran-Kid Sullivan bout, in which one of Sullivan's seconds threw a towel into the ring when Sullivan was fighting against him at any other time during the contest.

Huskies Easily Beat Princeton

Washington Crew's Latest Performance Points to Championship at Poughkeepsie—Look for Middies For Opposition.

Davis J. Walsh.

New York, June 19.—Unless many of our best minds don't know a stiletto from a corkscrew, the collegiate rowing championship of America on June 28 at Poughkeepsie was won, to all practical intents on Lake Carnegie, Princeton, N. J., no later than yesterday afternoon. It goes without saying that this was a highly sensational performance and a thoroughly good trick, even if one doesn't do it.

However, those fortunate enough to have seen the University of Washington crew row six lengths away from Princeton in 1 1/4 miles, while they forget they were in a so-called race and turned their attention to something important, couldn't escape the conviction that here, indeed, was a fool-proof eight. Advance notices hailed them as "the perfect crew" but it is the writer's non-essential idea that no one really knows how good they are and possibly never will know.

There is only one possibility of a showdown and, if so, it will come out of the Naval Academy, where a hybrid of the Washington System has been put into effect by Dick Butler without apparent loss of Navy prestige or power. The Middies are good but it is a moot question whether they would have been able to dangle through a race and still beat Princeton as badly as Washington did yesterday.

Not supposed to be a racing crew, the Huskies were sent over a racing distance at an average stroke of 33 to the minute with the distinct understanding that they were not to make Princeton look any worse than it was. Washington tried to follow instructions but, if it used table knives for oars, it probably would have experienced difficulty in keeping the Tigers with the situation to the end.

There simply was too much power in the Washington boat to throttle down to Princeton's speed. As it was, the feeling was general that the Huskies could have won by ten lengths or more. Show me the eastern crew that could do that with Princeton at a mile and three-quarters and I'll show you a triangular wedding ring.

Yet I don't know why I should lash myself into hysterics about the matter. It seems to me that Washington's superiority is so natural as to minimize its glory. They grow them big, brawny and beautiful to look upon, out Seattle way, which is something no eastern coach can duplicate. The average height of a Husky variety is said to be 6 feet 3 inches and to a fan like that, the first ten miles as the easterners.

They start rowing in January and by the time they reach Poughkeepsie, they pretty well know what is all about, while many an eastern coach is still wondering whether he should promote Joe Windmill or poison him. In addition, they have a system which bids fair to become universal what with Callow at Washington, Butler at the Navy, Spahn at Pennsylvania, Leader at Yale, Loeke at Princeton and Ehrhart at California.

But where some of the others are just mastering the rudiments of the system, the Huskies have lived and breathed it for years. That was the reason Callow was unable to prevent his friend, Chuck Loeke, from taking a bad beating yesterday. It is only one of the reasons Washington probably will win at Poughkeepsie. There are eight reasons, all told, and they sit in a row in the Washington variety shell.

Last Night's Flashes.
At New York—Tiger Flowers, middleweight champion, defeated Young Bob Fitzsimmons, 10 rounds. George Cook, Australian heavy, whipped Harold May, Bayonne, N. J., 10 rounds.

At Long Branch, N. J.—Harry Dodder, Newark waterweight, defeated Eddie Noble, Bristol, Pa., 10 rounds.

At San Francisco—Red Taylor, Jerry Hawk, outpointed Joe Lynch, California, 10 rounds.

Young Johnny Barnes, Oakland, knocked out Jack Reddy, Sacramento, in the sixth round.

Tagging Major League Bases

The Reds thrashed the Phillies, 13 to 6, and retained their precarious hold on first place. Al Nixon got two homers for the Phils.

Pittsburgh smothered the Giants, 8 to 3, behind the baffling pitching of Southpaw Senger. Four New York pitchers failed to puzzle the Pirates.

With Bob Osborn, a rookie, in the box, the Cubs subdued the Robins, 6 to 2, and gained a clear title to fourth place. Burleigh Grimes became dependent in the seventh inning and Chicago sewed up the game with a four-run rally.

With Pennock pitching his usual certified, Grade A brand of ball, the Yankees trampled on the White Sox, 10 to 2. Earl Combs leading the attack with four hits.

The Athletics, scoring ten runs in one wild inning in which every man in the line-up crossed the plate, slaughtered the Tigers, 12 to 2, and advanced to second place.

George Uhle was right, and the Red Sox, realizing that fact early in the game, merely went through the formalities and bowed to the Indians, 6 to 2. Joe Sewell of Cleveland continued his batting spree with four hits.

The Brown stood up and slugged with the Senators for ten innings, when Ruel's triple knocked them galley-west, 4 to 3.

DIPLOMA FOR TY COBB AWARDED IN 1911.

Detroit, June 19.—Fifteen years after he was selected Ty Cobb, manager of the Detroit Tigers, today will be presented with a diploma at Navin Field naming him the most valuable player in the league. Cobb was unanimously chosen for the award in 1911 and presented with an automobile at that time. In 1915 the trophy idea was discontinued and when the American League revived the practice in 1922 it was agreed that managers would not be eligible for such honors.

President Ray Johnson, of the American League, however, set aside June 19 as "Cobb Day" and arranged for the presentation of the trophy. A copy of the award will be placed in baseball's "Hall of Fame." The trophy presentation of the award will be made by Mayor John W. Smith, of Detroit, and witnessed by Ray Johnson, and other baseball notables.

Who's Who in Phoenix Players

Noted Artists Who Are to Appear in Plays This Summer Arrive—Huset Supper Sunday to Subscribers and Others Interested.

Ben Webster, director of the Phoenix Players, was in New York City Friday making final arrangements for bringing his company to Woodstock today. Mr. Webster has spent much time and effort in assembling the company with the result that it would be difficult to find a superior one. Most of the names will be familiar to Kingston theatergoers for the majority were at Woodstock last summer. However, several excellent additions have been made.

Their names, with a few words about what each has been connected with recently, are as follows:

Rose Hobart (Mrs. Ben Webster) played the ingenue lead in the Vortex with Noel Coward on the road and till this week was playing Lady Sybil in Barrie's What Every Woman Knows. Next winter she is to be a member of Eva LeGallienne's permanent repertory company.

Ethel Grimes has been playing for the past two years with George Arliss in Old English; Haroldine Humphreys has been playing Lady Glendolen in the Actors' Theatre production of The Importance of Being Earnest; Anne Walters has been acting for the motion pictures during the winter and of late has been with The Donovan Case; Harold Moulton has been touring with Eva LeGallienne in The Master Builders and John Gabriel Bjorkman. He is also to be in her repertory company next winter.

Edward Cooper has been with George Arliss in Old English for the past two years also; William Miles has been connected with the Mansfield Players and with recent William A. Brady productions.

These members of the company already mentioned were with the Phoenix Players last season and will be welcomed back by local audiences.

The new members are Theodore St. John, formerly with the Mansfield Players; Philip Leigh, who made such a hit in The Wild Duck this spring, appeared in Franz Werfel's Schweiger; Murray Kinnell, also of George Arliss's Old English company. It is hoped that they will find as secure a spot in the affection of their audiences as have the others.

On Sunday, June 20, there is to be a buffet supper at the Phoenix Theatre to which the subscribers and those interested in the theatre have been invited to renew old acquaintances and meet the new members of the company.

RURAL AMERICA HOLDS ITS OWN

So-Called "Declining" Villages Rival Biggest Cities in Rate of Growth.

New York.—Contrary to the prevailing notion that rural America is losing ground against the city, the Institute of Social and Religious Research has analyzed hitherto unpublished census data which cut the rate of city increase, 1900 to 1920 from 84.9 per cent, to 52.1 per cent and actually pushes the rural rate of growth up to 20.7 per cent.

The facts are brought out by Robert W. McCulloch in a recent issue of The Survey. One explanation lies in the government's bookkeeping; when a village reaches 2,500 people it automatically becomes a city according to census categories, and without moving an inch from their own dooryards its villagers get into the urban column. Even so, between 1900 and 1920, the villages in this country with 250 and 2,500 inhabitants increased 5,674 in number. To quote in advance from Mr. McCulloch:

"The recent report of the National Industrial Conference board showing that radical tendencies have shifted from the industrial workers to the farmers, is only one of many warnings that have roused interest in the rural situation and caused an increasing demand for facts about the country's rural people.

"The people of the industrial centers have been studied from every viewpoint. About the rural folk, there is an astonishing dearth of trustworthy information. More than this, a study by the Institute of Social and Religious Research, some of the results of which are now available, indicates that actual misinformation concerning rural conditions is very general.

"It is believed, even by the experts, that the rural areas of the United States are being depleted by a great, nationwide migration of country folk to the cities. In support of this, stories of the decline of America's villages are circulated with disheartening frequency.

"But is the cityward migration so great and so menacing a population movement after all? And are American villages really declining?

"Decline" is Explained.

"If one turns to the census, one is impressed by the relentless decline in relative importance of the rural element of the population from decade to decade. As recently as 1880 only 28.6 per cent of America's total population lived in incorporated places having 2,500 or more, the boundary line between rural and urban as defined by the census. In other words, 71.4 per cent of all Americans were, in 1880, rural folk. In 1920 this proportion had dropped to 48.6 per cent. It is easy to explain this decrease by a rural migration cityward, yet the census bureau itself points out that this percentage decrease need not be accounted for solely by the cityward migration of rural inhabitants.

"Even if there were no movement to the cities, there would still be, from one census period to the next, a steady decrease in the number of people classified as 'rural', because this is a growing nation, and many places classified as rural at the end of one decade grow sufficiently to cross into the urban class by the time the next census is taken.

"In Alabama, for example, Alabama City, a village with 2,278 inhabitants in 1900, passed into the urban class in 1910 with a population of 4,318; and Andalusia City, with 551 in 1900 and 2,480 in 1910, got over the line with 4,023 in 1920.

"Here then we see how some thousands of people in two villages ceased to be villagers and became urban folk; not by migration cityward, but by a process of governmental bookkeeping that did not move a single villager out of his own doorway.

What Figures Show.

"The Institute of Social and Religious Research got returns from the villages of all the states. These figures show that between 1900 and 1910, 476 places which had been classified as rural in 1900, passed the 2,500 mark and entered the urban class; while during the next decade, the number of places that passed from the rural to the urban class was 474. In addition, 118 places in the earlier decade and 72 in the last, entered the urban ranks because they became incorporated. It is the census procedure to classify unincorporated places as rural no matter what their size.

"The institute compiled a special tabulation showing the growth in population since 1900 of the territory that was rural in that year. This was done to eliminate the confusion due to the constant shift of villages to the urban class. New England was eliminated from this calculation because the township form of government makes it difficult to divide the population into groups comparable with the urban and rural groups in other sections. but for the rest of the United States, this special tabulation showed that 4,820,085 rural people became city folk between 1900 and 1920, not because they migrated but because the places in which they had been living grew sufficiently to be lifted from the rural into the urban class.

"The institute's report of this study, 'American Villagers,' written by Dr. C. Luther Fry, shows that with the differences in classification eliminated, the rural increase becomes 23.6 per cent, which is the normal increase of births over deaths and nearly twice as large as the increase based upon the ordinary census figures. When, for purposes of comparison, the growth of cities between 1900 and 1920 is limited solely to the places that were cities in 1900 the rate of growth for the period is 65.4 per cent instead of 84.9.

"This rate of actual growth for the places that were cities in 1900 needs a further correction.

Explains City Growth.

"In 1920 there were 33,920,692 foreign-born people living in the United States. Of this number 10,600,942 lived in cities, while only 8,419,780 resided in rural areas. Of these 10,600,942 urban aliens, 5,478,989 are known to have entered the country after 1900, while only 1,410,108 of the immigrants in rural areas fall into this group. The fact that during the last twenty years 4,000,000 more immigrants settled in our urban areas than in our rural areas helps explain the relatively rapid growth of cities. When corrected for this factor, the rate of city increase drops still further—from 65.4 per cent to 52.1 per cent, and the rural rate of growth, corrected in like manner, becomes 20.7 per cent.

"The institute devoted particular attention to the question of the growth and decline of villages. In 1920 there were 10,239 incorporated villages, with a population of 8,509,339; and in relation to the population of the remaining rural area they are growing very rapidly indeed.

"From 1900 to 1920 the incorporated villages increased 41 per cent, both in number and in population. During the same period the population of the United States as a whole increased 39 per cent. During these twenty years, therefore, incorporated villages increased in population more rapidly than the nation as a whole.

"Despite the fact that nearly a thousand incorporated villages, with all the people who dwell in them, were lost from the rural classification because they grew into the city class, the number of villages increased 5,674 from 1900 to 1920. Thousands of little open-country population centers, therefore, became villages as a result of actual increase in open-country population; and their growth, by sending them into the village class, checked them out as a loss to the open country in this analysis of open-country and village populations.

Village Growth.

"To find out whether the village increase in population might be explained by this increase in the number of places classified as villages, the institute worked out the rate of growth since 1900 of all the places that in 1900 were incorporated villages. This computation revealed that the places that were incorporated villages in 1900 grew 61.8 per cent during the next twenty years, compared with a 65 per cent increase for places that in 1900 were cities of 100,000 and over; 61 per cent for cities of 25,000 to 100,000; 67 per cent for cities from 10,000 to 25,000; 58 per cent for places of from 2,500 to 10,000, and 19.5 per cent for the open country. Here is the interesting discovery, not only that the greatest rate of growth since 1900 has occurred in cities of from 25,000 to 100,000, instead of in metropolitan cities; but that the villages have been expanding almost as rapidly as the large metropolitan centers.

"The census gathers at great cost a mass of facts about the residents of incorporated villages, covering occupation, age, sex, nationality, tenure of farm, home ownership, marital condition and school attendance. All this material lies in the census files virtually unused, because no provision has ever been made for its analysis and publication.

"Through the courtesy of the census bureau, the Institute of Social and Religious Research was able to make a special study of this unpublished material for 177 villages which were selected as representative of the agricultural villages of the entire United States, and which had a total population of a quarter of a million.

"A phase of this study helps to account for both villageward and cityward migration by showing that an unskilled worker who goes from the farm to the village, or from either the farm or the village to the city, improves both his social and his economic position.

"The census method of classifying gainfully employed workers by the great fields of industry in which they are engaged, and by which Charles M. Schwab and a day laborer in his plant would be classified together, does not show this; but the institute organized the data for the 177 villages—and for purposes of comparison, the census data for 88 medium-size cities also—to get at differences in the economic status of the people, by ascertaining the number of employers and the number of employees, the number of clerks, of skilled and of semi-skilled workers, and of laborers.

Fewer Women Work.

"The number of gainfully employed women in villages was found to be disproportionately small. Among the males, the relative number of persons who may be regarded as their own bosses, was found to be more than half again as high in the villages as in the cities, 30.4 per cent as against 18.9 per cent; but for those who are not their own bosses the villages have less to offer.

"This is shown by their relatively large number of laborers and servants; 31.5 per cent as compared with 23.5 per cent in the cities; by their smaller proportion of skilled workers, 17.8 per cent as against 23.4 per cent in the cities; by the still smaller showing of semi-skilled, of whom there are relatively only about half as many in the villages as in the cities, and by the very few clerical workers, 11.7 per cent, while 15.2 per cent of the city workers are 'white collar men.'

"These occupational differences indicate that if a man with small capital wants to go into business for himself he has a better chance of success in the village; but that if he wants a good job as a wage earner, his chances are better in the city. Nevertheless the villages have many skilled and semi-skilled workers, showing the presence of a surprising number of manufacturing plants in these smaller centers, and indicating that the villages of the United States, which are growing rapidly instead of declining, are also sharing to a hitherto unsuspected extent in the country's industrial development."

BUGS STUDIED IN FIGHT ON PRICKLY PEAR CACTUS

Australians to Visit Arid Southwest
America to Collect Insects
That Prey on Pest.

Uvalde, Texas.—The prickly pear cactus is advancing in Australia at the rate of a million acres a year. Leith F. Hitchcock of the Australian commonwealth prickly pear board estimates that already 60,000,000 acres of east Australia alone are infested with this spiny pest.

Mr. Hitchcock has just arrived here at the field station of the United States bureau of entomology to take charge of the North American phase of Australia's war on the prickly plant. So kindly has the cactus taken to the climate of the isolated continent that it occupies more than twice as much land as all the other crops put together, and so desperate have the inhabitants become that every sort of enemy that the cactus ever had in any part of the world is being drafted into service in the wild hope that it will help check its spread.

For that purpose the Australian prickly pear board has sent out men to the arid regions of the Southwest to collect specimens of the various types of insects that prey on the prickly pear. Thus far, according to Mr. Hitchcock, different species of the mealy bugs or cochineal insects have been found most successful. The insects are grown in cages at the entomological station here and the most vicious attackers of the cactus are shipped to Australia. There the authorities, taking warning from the rapid increase of the artificially introduced rabbit and the cactus itself, grow the insects in quarantine through at least one generation before they turn them loose to do their worst.

Women on Trip To North Pole

Three Women Are Members of Joint MacMillan-Metcalf Arctic Expedition—Objects of the Expedition.

Wiscasset, Me., June 19.—Women may reach the North Pole, for today for the first time on record three women in Eskimo fur suits start on a northward trek into the frozen Arctic.

The first party of women to undertake northern explorations are members of the joint Donald MacMillan-Rowe B. Metcalf expedition to Labrador, South Greenland, Baffin Land and other northern points.

They are: Mr. Metcalf's wife, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sewall, of Wiscasset, lifelong friends of the intrepid explorer MacMillan; Mr. Metcalf's cousin, Miss Maud Fisher, of New York, and Miss Marion Smith, of Wiscasset, the great granddaughter of the first governor of Maine. During the northward dash and return of the MacMillan ship Bowdoin and her sister ship, the Sachem, owned by Mr. Metcalf of Providence, R. I., each of the fair explorers will have appointed duties to perform.

Explorer Peary's wife, the first white woman in the Arctic accompanied her husband to Etah, Greenland.

The expedition has two objects—a search for zoological, geological, botanical and anthropological specimens for the Field Museum, of Chicago, and the unlocking of the thousand-year-old secret of the Viking exploration of the bleak reaches of Labrador and South Greenland (to secure proof of the claim that the Norsemen "found" America hundreds of years before Columbus).

Aid in Solving Problems.

It is expected that the women will be a great aid in the work of solving the problems that have baffled historians. Mrs. Metcalf, a relative of United States Senator Jesse Metcalf, of Rhode Island, is versed in matters of history; Miss Fisher is a Wellesley College student and Miss Smith a Bryn Mawr undergraduate.

Among the youthful adventurers of families of note and wealth accompanying the expedition is Joe N. Field, 14, son of Stanley Field, of Chicago, the head of the Field Museum, and whose grandfather was Marshall Field.

Another was young Kenneth Rawson, who accompanied Commander MacMillan last year. This lad's father, Fred C. Rawson, a millionaire of Chicago, with Mrs. Rawson, and a party of friends were here today on their palatial houseboat, the "Gaddy," from Miami to bid farewell to their son.

Bidding Farewell to MacMillan.

State officials, headed by Governor Ralph O. Brewster, joined with the local chamber of commerce, in giving Commander MacMillan, Maine's favorite son, and his party, a rousing farewell. Speeches and music were in order before the sailing of the veteran Arctic exploration ship Bowdoin and the special designed Metcalf yacht Sachem. A large fleet of small craft were on hand to escort the two ships to the first port of call, Christmas Cove. Here compasses will be adjusted.

The expedition will call at Rockland, Bar Harbor and Yarmouth, N. S., where Commander MacMillan will examine and study the famous Norse stone in the public library. This stone has been the sole proof of the existence of Norse ruins in South Greenland—ruins that the MacMillan expedition hope to unearth. Sidney, C. B. Battle Harbor, Lab., and thence on to Greenland and beyond is the route mapped out.

Everything being favorable, the expedition will return about September 15.

ORANGE COUNTY ELECTRIC COMPANY CAN'T RAISE RATES

Albany, June 19.—The Public Service Commission yesterday adopted an order further suspending the schedule of rates to be charged the public for electricity by the Orange County Public Service Corporation in the incorporated villages of Otisville and Bloomingburgh, the unincorporated villages of Howells, Sparrowbush, High View, New Hampton, Summitville, Phillipsport and Circleville and the towns of Wallkill and Wawayanda, all in Orange and Sullivan counties. The suspended rates are contained in a recent schedule filed with the commission by the lighting company. Complaints were made to the commission as to the new rates by customers residing in the localities mentioned, and the rates are now under investigation by the commission. The present suspension order postpones the taking effect of the proposed rates until September 22, 1926, while the complaint case is pending before the commission. During the period of suspension the existing rates are continued in effect.

RUSSIAN ARTIST'S BODY FOUND FLOATING IN HUDSON

New York, June 19.—The body of a man found floating in the Hudson river was identified at Bellevue Hospital early today as that of Alexander Niejen, 45, a Russian artist, who vanished last month from the stage of the Forty-Fourth Street Theatre where he had been singing in "The Song of the Flame."

The identification was made by his brother-in-law, Jacob Bolko. The latter said that Niejen, shortly before disappearing, declared he was "sick of living" and was depressed because he could not afford to bring his wife and two children here from Russia.

Last Easter Niejen painted a setting of colored Easter eggs and sent the canvas to President Coolidge, who in a letter, thanked the artist for the gift.

O. & W. MUST MAINTAIN ONE TRAIN ON BRANCH.

Albany, June 19.—The Public Service Commission has authorized the New York, Ontario and Western Railway Company to reduce its passenger service between Valley Junction and Port Jervis to one train each way daily except Sundays. This order was adopted after the commission had held hearings on the application of the railway company when it was proposed to discontinue operation of passenger service entirely over that portion of its system. The plan of the railway company met with objection from residents of the territory affected, and finally a stipulation was entered by all parties interested agreeing to the disposition of the matter now made by the commission. The order of the commission is made without prejudice to any interested party hereafter applying for an increase in the number of passenger trains to be operated between Valley Junction and Port Jervis.
